

Tammecca Maxwell - Asst Principal

I was born and raised in Kansas City, Missouri. My entire professional journey has been dedicated to the development of current and potential members of the workforce. As a co-founding member of Shoulders and Bridges, I am driven to establish the financial legacy of individuals by increasing access to college and career paths.

I started my professional journey in Human Resources after graduating from the University of Missouri-Columbia with a Bachelor's Degree in Business Management. While in the Human Resources industry, I was instrumental in helping three of Kansas City's largest employers develop a variety of individuals to perform at levels allowing them to maximize their skills to meet the needs of the organization. During that tenure, I also earned a Master's in Business Administration from the University of Missouri-Kansas City.

After working in Human Resources for over a decade, I decided to embark on a new journey and enter the field of education. I served as a Business Education teacher in the Kansas City Public School District. After being in that position for four years, I transitioned across the state line and spent six years at Wyandotte High School. At Wyandotte High School, I initially served as a Business Teacher before transitioning to become a member of the leadership team and served as the Lead College and Career Coordinator. During that period of time, I also earned a Master's of Arts in Teaching and Learning from Avila University. In 2018, I transitioned back to KCPS and served as the Building Lead for Manual Career Technical Center. I have spent the last three years serving as Vice Principal for Lincoln College Preparatory Academy Middle School, during which time I have earned an Education Specialist degree in building leadership from the University of Central Missouri.

Most importantly, I am a devoted wife, mother of two delightfully talented daughters, a proud member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, and an active member of Jack & Jill of America and The Jackson County (MO) Chapter of the Links, Incorporated.
